SERVICES PROVIDED

As discussed in more detail below, SageBroadview offers its clients comprehensive Wealth Management Services and Consulting Services. SageBroadview will conduct an initial, complimentary interview with each prospective client. The individual conducting the interview will be qualified to determine the scope of services that SageBroadview will provide. If a prospective client decides to engage SageBroadview to provide its services, SageBroadview and the client will enter into a written agreement that details the specific services to be provided and fees to be paid to SageBroadview.

Once the agreement is signed, SageBroadview will obtain additional information from the client or from anyone else a client instructs SageBroadview is legally acceptable (e.g., another adviser, legal counsel, etc.). SageBroadview may request this information through further discussions, financial statements and documents, surveys, etc. This information will help SageBroadview to understand a client’s financial needs, goals, holdings, etc.

In performing services, SageBroadview may independently verify any information given to the firm, though it is not a requirement that SageBroadview do so, and sometimes SageBroadview will simply take the client at their word. SageBroadview bases its investment advice and/or financial planning recommendations on the information that is provided to SageBroadview by a client, and SageBroadview incorporates the client’s financial situation as of the time that the advice or recommendation is given. It remains the client’s responsibility to promptly notify SageBroadview if there is ever any change in their financial situation or investment objectives.

With respect to any account for which SageBroadview meets the definition of a fiduciary under Department of Labor rules, SageBroadview acknowledges that both SageBroadview and its Related Persons are acting as fiduciaries. Additional disclosure may be found elsewhere in this Brochure or in the written agreement between SageBroadview and the client.

SageBroadview’s Wealth Management Services include Integrated Financial and Tax Planning (“Planning”) and Portfolio Management services.¹

¹ Financial planning and portfolio management services are no longer offered on a stand-alone basis. However, certain legacy clients of SageBroadview may have such arrangements.

Integrated Financial and Tax Planning

SageBroadview gathers required information through in-depth personal interviews. Information gathered includes a client's current financial status, future goals and attitudes towards risk. Related documents supplied by the client are carefully reviewed, and, depending on the terms of the engagement, a written report may be prepared.

Depending on the client's needs, SageBroadview's Planning Services may address some or all of the following areas of concern:

Goal Setting

SageBroadview will help a client establish their immediate, mid-term, and long-term personal and financial goals. SageBroadview will then help the client prioritize their goals and determine the resources necessary to accomplish their financial and life goals.

Net Worth

SageBroadview will help a client create a personal Statement of Net Worth.

Stock Options and Other Equity Compensation Planning

SageBroadview will assist a client with decisions regarding their employee equity compensation programs so that they complement the client's overall financial plan. SageBroadview reviews the client's specific stock grants (incentive & nonqualified stock options, restricted stock, SARs, etc.) and designs action plans in light of the client's personal financial situation, including the client's federal and state marginal tax brackets, net worth, objectives, risk tolerance, and need for cash.

Employee Benefits Review

SageBroadview will review the client's employee benefits program and make recommendations to help the client get the most from the choices offered.

Education Funding Analysis

SageBroadview will prepare an analysis to determine how the client might fund the education the client desires for their children or grandchildren. SageBroadview will discuss alternatives for savings vehicles and help the client select the most appropriate vehicles given the client's specific needs. SageBroadview will work with the client's college planner as may be needed. SageBroadview will also explore financial aid possibilities and tax strategies.

Planning for Financial Independence Analysis

SageBroadview will prepare an analysis to determine what amount of investments and additional savings might be necessary in order to achieve the client's goal of financial independence. SageBroadview incorporates Social Security projections as well as annuity and pension income into the analysis. The plan's sustainability is tested using Monte Carlo simulations.

Tax Planning

For a current tax year, SageBroadview will prepare an annual income tax projection to estimate the client's expected liability or refund based upon expected income and deductions during the tax year. SageBroadview will make recommendations to adjust the client's withholdings or estimated tax payments, if necessary. SageBroadview will review appropriate tax planning strategies. If requested by the client, SageBroadview will assist the client's tax preparer and review draft returns.

Combining personal income tax return preparation with SageBroadview's Wealth Management service may assist clients with a thorough, coordinated understanding of their finances. Lawrence Anello, a Partner of SageBroadview, is a Principal and employee of UHY Advisors N.E., LLC ("UHY Advisors"), an unaffiliated professional services firm. Through his association with UHY Advisors, Mr. Anello is available to prepare these tax returns. Clients are under no obligation to use the services of UHY Advisors. Please see Item 10 – Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations of this Brochure for additional details.

Estate Planning

SageBroadview will review the client's existing estate plan documents (wills, trusts, and powers of attorney) and determine the need, if any, for any additional estate planning. If requested by the client, SageBroadview will also recommend attorneys who specialize in drafting estate-planning documents and introduce the client to these attorneys.

Insurance Review

SageBroadview will review the client's current individual and corporate life insurance policies and make suggestions regarding the appropriateness of the client's coverage in meeting the client's current goals and objectives. SageBroadview will also review and make recommendations regarding health, disability, long term care, and property and casualty insurance coverage.

Cash Flow Analysis

SageBroadview will examine the client's annual income and expenses and suggest changes to better align the client's current spending and saving with the client's longer-term goals and objectives.

Small Business and/ or Rental Income Consulting & Other Services As Needed

SageBroadview will consult on major purchases, leasing arrangements, and/or refinancing mortgages. SageBroadview will review the client's progress and stay current on important stages in the client's life.

SageBroadview's recommendations are not limited to any specific product or service offered by a broker-dealer or insurance company. All Planning recommendations are of a generic nature. In performing its services, SageBroadview is not be required to verify any information received from the client or from the client's other professionals and is expressly authorized to rely on such information.

Should a client choose to accept SageBroadview's recommended plan, SageBroadview may also recommend its own services, the services of an affiliated entity, or those of other professionals for implementation. Clients are advised that a conflict of interest exists if SageBroadview recommends its own services or that of an affiliate. The client is under no obligation to act upon any of the recommendations made by SageBroadview under a Wealth Management engagement and/or to engage the services of any such recommended professional, including SageBroadview, its affiliates, or any of their related persons. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any of SageBroadview's recommendations.

Portfolio Management Services

SageBroadview's Wealth Management offering includes personalized portfolio management services, which consist of giving continuous advice to a client or making investments for a client based on the client's individual needs. Through personal discussions, during which a client's goals and objectives are established, SageBroadview assesses the client's risk profile and investment guidelines and will prepare an investment policy statement or similar document that reflects the client's investment objectives, time horizon, tolerance for risk, and any account restraints. SageBroadview's Portfolio Management services generally include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Risk tolerance assessment
- Asset allocation
- Investment strategy formulation
- Investment Policy Statement development
- Asset selection
- Regular portfolio monitoring
- Periodic performance reporting
- Periodic rebalancing

SageBroadview will create and manage a customized portfolio based on the client's risk profile, goals and investment guidelines. SageBroadview will allocate the client's assets among various asset classes based on the client's risk tolerance. SageBroadview will manage a client's account based on the client's investment objectives and guidelines as memorialized in the investment policy statement.

In accordance with the investment objectives of the client, SageBroadview will create a portfolio principally comprised of mutual funds. Other security types may be used in addition to mutual funds. In addition, managed accounts may hold legacy positions in other types of financial instruments, including without limitation, exchange traded funds (commonly known as "ETFs"), individual debt or equity securities, etc. Please see the disclosures in Item 8 – Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss for additional information on the types of securities used by SageBroadview to construct portfolios and certain associated risks. Each portfolio will be designed with the goal of meeting the client's individual needs.

Portfolio Management services will be provided on a discretionary basis. For accounts managed on a discretionary basis, the client gives SageBroadview full authority to manage the client's assets in accordance with what the firm deems to be in the client's best interest based on the client's investment objectives and guidelines as set forth in the client's investment policy statement. Clients will retain individual ownership of all securities in their account.

SageBroadview may allocate (and/or recommend that the client allocate) a portion of a client's investment assets among unaffiliated, independent investment managers in accordance with the client's designated investment objective(s). In such situations, the independent manager(s) shall have day-to-day responsibility for the active, discretionary management of the allocated assets. SageBroadview shall continue to render investment advisory services to the client relative to the ongoing monitoring and review of account performance, asset allocation and client investment objectives. Factors that SageBroadview may consider in recommending independent manager(s) include the client's designated investment objective(s), as well as the manager's management style, performance, reputation, financial strength, reporting, pricing, and research.

Client Tailored Services and Client Imposed Restrictions

SageBroadview offers a full range of investment advisory services that can be tailored to meet the specific needs of each client. In order to provide appropriately individualized services, SageBroadview will work with the client to obtain information regarding the client's financial circumstances, investment objectives, overall financial condition, income and tax status, personal and business assets, risk profile, and other information regarding the client's financial and investment needs.

At least annually SageBroadview will review with clients their financial circumstances, investment objectives and risk profile. In order for SageBroadview to provide effective advisory services, it is critical that clients provide accurate and complete information to SageBroadview and to inform SageBroadview any time such information needs to be updated, or any time there is a change in their financial circumstances, investment objectives and/or risk profile.

Generally, clients are permitted to impose reasonable restrictions on investing in certain securities or types of securities in their advisory accounts, provided, however, that some restrictions may not be accommodated. In addition, a restriction request may not be honored if it is fundamentally inconsistent with SageBroadview's investment philosophy, runs counter to the client's stated investment objectives, or would prevent SageBroadview from properly servicing client accounts.

To the extent requested by the client, SageBroadview may provide consulting services regarding non-investment related matters, such as estate planning, tax planning, insurance, etc. Neither SageBroadview, nor any of its representatives, serves as an attorney, or licensed insurance agent, and no portion of SageBroadview's services should be construed as same. To the extent requested by a client, SageBroadview may recommend the services of other professionals for certain non-investment implementation purposes (i.e. attorneys, accountants, insurance, etc.). The client is under no obligation to engage the services of any such recommended professional. The client retains absolute discretion over all such implementation decisions and is free to accept or reject any recommendation from SageBroadview.

Item 5 - Fees and Compensation

Wealth Management Fees

SageBroadview's annual fee for Wealth Management services has two components. The first component is the Portfolio Management fee, which shall be assessed at the annual rate of 0.50% of the market value of the portfolio assets. The second component, for Integrated Financial and Tax Planning services, will be a fixed fee that typically ranges from $5,000 to $20,000 per year based on the complexity of the client's situation. Together these fees will comprise the "Wealth Management Fee." (No portion of the Wealth Management Fee will be based on capital gains or capital appreciation of the portfolio assets except as provided for by applicable state and Federal rules.)

Wealth Management Services are subject to a minimum quarterly fee of $2,000 per client household.

The Portfolio Management component is based upon the value of the client's portfolio (market value; or, in the absence of market value, fair market value) at the end of the previous quarter (or at the time of initial deposit into the account, whichever is more recent). The Portfolio Management fee is prorated to account for additional contributions made to the portfolio during a billing period. No fee adjustments are made for partial withdrawals. Details of the Wealth Management fees charged are more fully described in the advisory agreement entered into with each client.

The Financial and Tax Planning component is prorated for periods less than a full billing cycle (based upon the number of calendar days in the calendar quarter that the advisory agreement was effective). Clients will be billed in advance at the beginning of each calendar quarter.

Money Managers' Fees and Expenses

All fees paid to SageBroadview for its Wealth Management services are separate and distinct from the fees and expenses charged by any other independent money managers that a client has retained. Each independent money manager used involves different custodial, administrative, and fee arrangements, and may require certain minimum initial account investments. These fees and expenses are described in each independent money manager's firm Brochure. These fees will generally include a management fee and possible other fees. The actual management fees may be higher or lower for a specific independent money manager employing similar strategies. In certain circumstances a client could invest with an independent money manager directly, without the services of SageBroadview. In that case, the client would not receive the services provided by SageBroadview which are designed, among other things, to assist the client in determining which independent money managers are most appropriate to the client's financial condition and objectives.

Termination and Refunds

A client has the right to terminate an advisory agreement without penalty within five (5) business days after entering into such agreement. Either SageBroadview or the client may terminate their Investment Advisory Agreement at any time, subject to any written notice requirements in the agreement.

If an account is terminated during a calendar quarter, Portfolio Management fees will be refunded based on the days remaining in the calendar quarter. SageBroadview will credit a client's account for the amount of any refund. Otherwise, SageBroadview will send a check to the client.

Payment Method

Depending on the particular advisory service there are two options a client may select to pay SageBroadview's advisory services fees:

- Direct Debiting: SageBroadview will deduct the applicable fee directly from the client's account. Each quarter, SageBroadview will notify the client's qualified custodian of the amount of the fee due and payable to SageBroadview pursuant to the firm's fee schedule and advisory agreement. The qualified custodian will not validate or check SageBroadview's fees, its corresponding calculation or the assets on which the fee is based unless the client has retained their services to do so. With the client's pre-approval, the qualified custodian will "deduct" the fee from the client's account or, if the client has more than one account, from the account the client has designated to pay SageBroadview's advisory fees. Clients will receive a statement directly from the qualified custodian at least quarterly, which will reflect all activity in the clients' account(s), including the deduction of SageBroadview's advisory fees.
- Billing: Each quarter, SageBroadview will issue the client an invoice for the firm's services and the client will pay SageBroadview by check or wire transfer within 30 days of the date of the invoice, or as negotiated and documented in the client's advisory agreement.

Consulting Fees

Consulting services fees will be charged on an hourly basis calculated on a charge of up to $400 per hour. The length of time it will take to complete the advisory service will depend on the nature and complexity of the individual client's personal circumstances. SageBroadview will invoice the client monthly, in arrears, for all work that has been conducted by SageBroadview over the course of the previous month.

General Fee Information

Fees Negotiable

SageBroadview retains the right to modify fees, including annual fee minimums, in its sole and absolute discretion, on a client-by-client basis. Factors considered include the complexity and nature of the advisory services provided, anticipated amount of assets to be placed under management, anticipated future additional assets, related accounts, portfolio style, and account composition. The specific fee schedule is identified in the advisory agreement entered into with the client.

Other Fees and Expenses

Fees paid to SageBroadview are exclusive of all custodial and transaction costs paid to the client's custodian, brokers or other third-party consultants. Please see Item 12 – Brokerage Practices for additional information. Fees paid to SageBroadview are also separate and distinct from the fees and expenses that mutual funds, ETFs or other investment pools charge to their shareholders (generally including a management fee and fund expenses, as described in each fund's prospectus or offering materials). The client should review all fees charged by funds, brokers, SageBroadview and others in order to fully understand the total fees paid by the client for investment and financial-related services.

Item 6 - Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

SageBroadview's investment advisory services fees are not based on a share of the capital gains or capital appreciation (i.e., growth in value) of the funds in a client's account (a/k/a "performance-based fees"). SageBroadview chooses not to use a performance-based fee structure because of the potential conflict of interest this may create. Performance-based compensation can pose an incentive for an adviser to recommend an investment that may carry a higher degree of risk to the client in order to potentially earn higher fees.

Side-by-side management refers to an adviser simultaneously managing accounts that do pay performance-based fees and those that do not; this can create potential conflicts of interest. SageBroadview does not engage in side-by-side management.

Item 7 - Types of Clients

SageBroadview provides advisory services to individuals (including high net worth individuals), trusts, and estates.

Wealth Management Services

Wealth Management Services accounts are subject to a minimum quarterly fee. Please see Item 5 – Fees and Compensation/Wealth Management Fees. Under certain circumstances and in its sole discretion, SageBroadview may negotiate this minimum. SageBroadview does not generally impose a minimum portfolio value.

Consulting Services

There is no minimum account size requirement or annual fee requirement for Consulting Services clients.

Item 8 - Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Methods of Analysis

If a client engages SageBroadview to provide Wealth Management Services, the firm will first evaluate several factors, including the client's:

- Current financial situation
- Current and long-term needs
- Investment goals and objectives
- Tolerance for risk

SageBroadview will make asset allocation and investment policy decisions based on these and other factors. SageBroadview will then discuss with the client how, in the firm's best judgment, to meet the client's objectives while at the same time minimizing the client's risk exposure.

Investment Strategies

SageBroadview will use investment strategies that are appropriate to the needs of the client and consistent with the client's investment objectives, risk tolerance and time horizons, among other considerations.

SageBroadview's portfolios are based on the principles of "Modern Portfolio Theory," whose concepts are based on rigorous, long-term academic research. The major premises of this theory include the following:

- Markets are typically efficient (though not always rational); therefore, it may be difficult to gain a competitive edge by exploiting market anomalies
- Risk and reward are highly correlated. Over time, assets of greater risk provide higher expected returns to compensate investors for accepting this level of risk. Adding high-risk, low-correlation asset classes to a portfolio can reduce volatility/risk while increasing expected rates of return
- Proper portfolio diversification can maximize expected return for a certain level of risk; likewise, it can minimize risk for a certain expected rate of return

SageBroadview believes that a long-term, buy-and-hold investment strategy with periodic rebalancing is preferred over most active investment strategies. In a long-term strategy, securities are purchased with the expectation that the value of those securities will grow over a relatively long period of time, generally greater than one year.

SageBroadview portfolios integrate funds managed by Dimensional Fund Advisors ("DFA"), a multi-billion-dollar institutional portfolio manager. DFA manages assets exclusively for institutional investors and the clients of registered financial advisors like SageBroadview. DFA serves corporate pension plans, state/local governments, universities, and charitable organizations. DFA funds are not available to the general public.

DFA views the markets as an ally, not an adversary. Rather than positioning for market mistakes, DFA participates in preferred exposures, and focuses on the fundamentals of long-term growth. With an investment philosophy grounded in robust academic research, DFA uses economic and investment models to help investors arrange portfolios to ensure that allocations are commensurate with client goals and risk tolerance.

If a client has an existing portfolio at the time the client engages SageBroadview, the firm will evaluate the client's existing holdings and determine whether it is appropriate to continue to hold some or all of them, based on the client's objectives and needs. SageBroadview will also assist in rebalancing the client's portfolio in order to maintain the desired allocation while minimizing the client's tax exposures, trading costs, etc.

Risk of Loss

While SageBroadview seeks to diversify clients' investment portfolios across various asset classes consistent with their Investment Plans in an effort to reduce risk of loss, all investment portfolios are subject to risks. Accordingly, there can be no assurance that client investment portfolios will be able to fully meet their investment objectives and goals, or that investments will not lose money.

Below is a description of several of the principal risks that client investment portfolios face.

Management Risks. While SageBroadview manages client investment portfolios on the Company's experience, research and proprietary methods, the value of client investment portfolios will change daily based on the performance of the underlying securities in which they are invested. Accordingly, client investment portfolios are subject to the risk that SageBroadview allocates client assets to individual securities and/or asset classes that are adversely affected by unanticipated market movements, and the risk that SageBroadview's specific investment choices could underperform their relevant indexes.

Risks of Investments in Mutual Funds, ETFs and Other Investment Pools. As described above, SageBroadview generally concentrates investments in client portfolios in mutual funds, while other security types may be held in limited fashion. These other security types include, among others, ETFs and other investment pools ("pooled investment funds"). Investments in pooled investment funds are generally less risky than investing in individual securities because of their diversified portfolios; however, these investments are still subject to risks associated with the markets in which they invest. In addition, pooled investment funds' success will be related to the skills of their particular managers and their performance in managing their funds. Pooled investment funds are also subject to risks due to regulatory restrictions applicable to registered investment companies under the Investment Company Act of 1940.

Equity Market Risks. SageBroadview will generally invest portions of client assets directly into equity investments, primarily mutual funds that invest in the stock market. As noted above, while pooled investments have diversified portfolios that may make them less risky than investments in individual securities, funds that invest in stocks and other equity securities are nevertheless subject to the risks of the stock market. These risks include, without limitation, the risks that stock values will decline due to daily fluctuations in the markets, and that stock values will decline over longer periods (e.g., bear markets) due to general market declines in the stock prices for all companies, regardless of any individual security's prospects.

Fixed Income Risks. SageBroadview may invest portions of client assets directly into fixed income instruments, such as bonds and notes, these are typically legacy positions that the client held prior to engaging SageBroadview. The Company may invest client assets in fixed income pooled investment funds (those that invest in bonds and notes) as appropriate. While investing in fixed income instruments, either directly or through pooled investment funds, is generally less volatile than investing in stock (equity) markets, fixed income investments nevertheless are subject to risks. These risks include, without limitation, interest rate risks (risks that changes in interest rates will devalue the investments), credit risks (risks of default by borrowers), or maturity risk (risks that bonds or notes will change value from the time of issuance to maturity).

Foreign Securities Risks. SageBroadview may invest portions of client assets into pooled investment funds that invest internationally. While foreign investments are important to the diversification of client investment portfolios, they carry risks that may be different from U.S. investments. For example, foreign investments may not be subject to uniform audit, financial reporting or disclosure standards, practices or requirements comparable to those found in the U.S. Foreign investments are also subject to foreign withholding taxes and the risk of adverse changes in investment or exchange control regulations. Finally, foreign investments may involve currency risk, which is the risk that the value of the foreign security will decrease due to changes in the relative value of the U.S. dollar and the security's underlying foreign currency.

Item 9 - Disciplinary Information

SageBroadview is required to disclose any legal or disciplinary events that are material to a client's or a prospective client's evaluation of the firm's advisory business or the integrity of SageBroadview's management. Neither SageBroadview nor any member of its management has been involved in a material criminal or civil action in a domestic, foreign or military jurisdiction; an administrative enforcement action; or self-regulatory organization proceeding that would reflect poorly upon SageBroadview's advisory business or the integrity of the firm.

Item 10 - Other Financial Industry Activities and Affiliations

Financial Industry Affiliations

Lawrence J. Anello is also a Principal and employee of UHY Advisors N.E., LLC ("UHY Advisors"), a professional services firm. SageBroadview and UHY Advisors are not affiliated. Tax and accounting advice provided by Mr. Anello in his individual capacity is offered through UHY Advisors and is separate and distinct from the advisory services offered by SageBroadview. Likewise, the fees for the tax and accounting advice and SageBroadview are completely separate. Under a shared services agreement, both firms share office space, support staff, and organizational supplies. Each firm's records, however, are maintained separately, and UHY Advisors' personnel do not have the authority to sign checks or otherwise disburse funds on any advisory firm client's behalf. Although either firm may recommend the other's services, neither pays referral fees to the other, and clients are not obligated to use either service.

Selection of Other Advisers

SageBroadview does not receive, directly or indirectly, compensation from other investment advisers that it may recommend or select for its clients.

Item 11 - Code of Ethics, Participation or Interest in Client Transactions and Personal Trading

Code of Ethics and Personal Trading

SageBroadview has adopted a Code of Ethics to prevent violations of federal securities laws. SageBroadview's Code of Ethics is predicated on the principle that the firm owes a fiduciary duty to its clients. Accordingly, SageBroadview expects all of its associated persons to act with honesty, integrity and professionalism and to adhere to federal and state securities laws. All officers, managers, directors, members and employees of the firm and any other person who provides advice on behalf of SageBroadview and is subject to SageBroadview's control and supervision are required to adhere to the Code of Ethics. At all times, the firm and its associated persons must

- (i) place client interests ahead of the firm's

- (ii) engage in personal investing that is in full compliance with the firm's Code of Ethics; and
- (iii) avoid taking advantage of their position

A copy of SageBroadview's Code of Ethics is available to any client or prospective client upon request. For a copy, please contact SageBroadview at (860) 255-0103.

Material Financial Interest

SageBroadview does not recommend to its clients securities in which the firm or any related person has a material financial interest.

Invest in Same Securities as Clients

SageBroadview or individuals associated with SageBroadview may buy, sell, or hold in their personal accounts the same securities that SageBroadview recommends to its clients and in accordance with the firm's internal compliance procedures. To minimize conflicts of interest, and to maintain the fiduciary responsibility SageBroadview has to its clients, the firm has established personal securities transaction policies to monitor the personal securities transactions and securities holdings of each of SageBroadview's "access persons."

Engaging in Transactions at Same Time as Client

SageBroadview and/or individuals associated with SageBroadview may, at or about the same time, buy, sell, or hold in their personal accounts the same securities that the firm recommends to its clients. This practice may create a situation SageBroadview and/or individuals associated with SageBroadview are in a position to materially benefit from the sale or purchase of those securities. Therefore, this situation creates a potential conflict of interest. As indicated above, SageBroadview has a personal securities transaction policy in place to mitigate any potential conflicts of interest.

Item 12 - Brokerage Practices

Best Execution and Benefits of Brokerage Selection

When given discretion to select the brokerage firm that will execute orders in client accounts, SageBroadview seeks "best execution" for client trades, which is a combination of a number of factors, including, without limitation, quality of execution, services provided and commission rates. Recognizing these various factors, SageBroadview may use or recommend using brokers who do not necessarily charge the lowest available commission. Research services received with transactions may include proprietary or third-party research (or any combination) and may be used in servicing any or all of SageBroadview's clients. Therefore, research services received may not be used for the account for which the particular transaction was effected.

SageBroadview recommends that clients establish brokerage accounts with Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. ("Schwab") and/or Shareholders Service Group, Inc. ("SSG"), together the "Custodians" both FINRA registered broker-dealers, member SIPC, as the qualified custodians to maintain custody of clients' assets. SSG utilizes the clearing services of Pershing, LLC. SageBroadview will also effect trades for client accounts at the Custodians, or may in some instances, consistent with SageBroadview's duty of best execution and specific agreement with each client, elect to execute trades elsewhere. Although SageBroadview may recommend that clients establish accounts at the Custodians, it is ultimately the client's decision to custody assets with the Custodians. SageBroadview is independently owned and operated and is not affiliated with the Custodians. The Custodians do not supervise SageBroadview, its agents or activities.

The Custodians provide SageBroadview with access to its institutional trading, custody, reporting and related services, which are typically not available to the Custodians' retail investors. The Custodians also make available various support services. Some of those services help SageBroadview manage or administer our clients' accounts, while others help SageBroadview manage and grow our business. These services generally are available to independent investment advisors on an unsolicited basis, at no charge to them. These services are not soft dollar arrangements but are part of the institutional platform offered by the Custodians. The Custodians' brokerage services include executing securities transactions, as well as providing custody, research, and access to mutual funds and other investments that are otherwise generally available only to institutional investors or would require a significantly higher minimum initial investment.

For SageBroadview client accounts maintained in their custody, the Custodians generally do not charge separately for custody services but are instead compensated by account holders through commissions and other transaction-related or asset-based fees for securities trades, which are executed through the Custodians or settle into the Custodians' accounts. The Custodians also make available to SageBroadview other products and services that benefit SageBroadview but that may not directly benefit its clients' accounts. Many of these products and services may be used to service all or some substantial number of SageBroadview accounts, including accounts not maintained at the Custodians.

The Custodians' products and services that assist SageBroadview in managing and administering clients' accounts include software and other technology that

- (i) provide access to client account data (such as trade confirmations and account statements)
- (ii) facilitate trade execution and allocate aggregated trade orders for multiple client accounts
- (iii) provide pricing and other market data
- (iv) facilitate payment of SageBroadview's fees from its clients' accounts
- (v) assist with back-office functions, recordkeeping and client reporting

The Custodians also offer other services intended to help SageBroadview manage and further develop its business enterprise. These services may include:

- (i) technology, compliance, legal, and business consulting
- (ii) publications and conferences on practice management and business succession
- (iii) access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants and insurance providers

The Custodians may make available, arrange and/or pay third-party vendors for the types of services rendered to SageBroadview. The Custodians may discount or waive fees they would otherwise charge for some of these services, or they may pay all or a part of the fees of a third-party providing these services to SageBroadview. The Custodians may also provide other benefits such as educational events or occasional business entertainment of SageBroadview personnel. In evaluating whether to recommend that clients custody their assets at the Custodians, SageBroadview may take into account the availability of some of the foregoing products and services and other arrangements as part of the total mix of factors it considers and not solely on the nature, cost or quality of custody and brokerage services provided by the Custodians, which may create a potential conflict of interest.

Directed Brokerage

SageBroadview does not generally allow directed brokerage accounts.

Aggregated Trade Policy

SageBroadview typically directs trading in individual Wealth Management client accounts as and when trades are appropriate based on the client's Investment Plan, without regard to activity in other client accounts.

Item 13 - Review of Accounts

Managed portfolios are reviewed at least quarterly but may be reviewed more often if requested by the client, upon receipt of information material to the management of the portfolio, or at any time such review is deemed necessary or advisable by SageBroadview. These factors generally include but are not limited to, the following:

- change in specific client circumstances (marriage, divorce, retirement)
- change in general conditions (economic, political, market)

Such reviews are conducted by one of SageBroadview's investment adviser representatives or Partners.

Account custodians are responsible for providing monthly or quarterly account statements that reflect the positions (and current pricing) in each account, as well as transactions in each account, including fees paid. Account custodians also provide prompt confirmation of all trading activity and year-end tax statements, such as 1099 forms. SageBroadview will provide additional written reports as needed or requested by the client.

For those clients to whom SageBroadview provides separate consulting services, reviews are conducted on an as-needed or agreed upon basis. Such reviews are conducted by one of SageBroadview's investment adviser representatives or Partners.

Item 14 - Client Referrals and Other Compensation

As noted above, SageBroadview receives an economic benefit from the Brokers in the form of support products and services they make available to SageBroadview and other independent investment advisors whose clients maintain accounts at the Brokers. These products and services, how they benefit our firm, and the related conflicts of interest are described in Item 12 - Brokerage Practices. The availability of the Brokers' products and services to SageBroadview is based solely on our participation in the program and not on the provision of any particular investment advice. Neither the Brokers nor any other party is paid to refer clients to SageBroadview.

Item 15 - Custody

Schwab and SSG are the custodians of nearly all client accounts at SageBroadview. From time to time however, clients may select an alternate broker to hold accounts in custody. In any case, it is the custodian's responsibility to provide clients with confirmations of trading activity, tax forms, and (at least) quarterly account statements. Clients are advised to review this information carefully, and to notify SageBroadview of any questions or concerns. Clients are also asked to promptly notify SageBroadview if the custodian fails to provide statements on each account held. Neither Schwab nor SSG is affiliated with SageBroadview, nor do Schwab or SSG supervise SageBroadview, its agents or activities.

From time to time and in accordance with SageBroadview's agreement with clients, SageBroadview will provide additional reports. The account balances reflected on these reports should be compared to the balances shown on the brokerage statements to ensure accuracy. At times there may be small differences due to the timing of dividend reporting, pending trades or other similar issues.

Item 16 - Investment Discretion

As described above under Item 4 - Advisory Business, SageBroadview manages portfolios on a discretionary basis. This means that after an Investment Plan is developed for the client's investment portfolio, SageBroadview will execute that plan without specific consent from the client for each transaction. For discretionary accounts a Limited Power of Attorney ("LPOA") is executed by the client, giving SageBroadview the authority to carry out various activities in the account, generally including the following: trade execution, the ability to request checks on behalf of the client, and the withdrawal of advisory fees directly from the account. SageBroadview then directs investment of the client's portfolio using its discretionary authority. The client may limit the terms of the LPOA to the extent consistent with the client's investment advisory agreement with SageBroadview and the requirements of the client's custodian. The discretionary relationship is further described in the agreement between SageBroadview and the client.

Item 17 - Voting Client Securities

As a policy and in accordance with SageBroadview's client agreement, SageBroadview does not vote proxies related to securities held in client accounts. The custodian of the account will normally provide proxy materials directly to the client. Clients may contact SageBroadview with questions relating to proxy procedures and proposals; however, SageBroadview generally does not research particular proxy proposals.

Item 18 - Financial Information

Prepayment of Fees

SageBroadview does not require nor solicit prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees per client, six months or more in advance, and therefore has no disclosure with respect to this item.

*A CPA is a Certified Public Accountant. All CPA candidates must pass the Uniform CPA Examination to qualify for a CPA certificate and license to practice public accounting. While the exam is the same regardless of where it is taken, every state/jurisdiction has its own set of education and experience requirements that individuals must meet. However, most states require at least a bachelor's degree and a concentration in accounting, and at least one year of public accounting experience under the supervision of or verification by a CPA. Once the designation is attained, the CPA is required to meet continuing education requirements.

The PFS designation is granted exclusively to CPA's with the combination of extensive tax expertise and comprehensive knowledge of personal financial planning. The requirements for the PFS credential are established by the PFP (Personal Financial Planning) staff at the AICPA (American Institute of CPA's), the National Accreditation Commission, along with the PFS Credential Committee, and accurately reflect the depth and breadth of experience and technical expertise required to obtain this credential. The 5 major requirements are: (1) Obtain CPA licensure (2) join the AICPA and be a member in good standing (3) complete a comprehensive PFP education, consisting of a minimum of 80 hours of PFP training and education within the five year period preceding the date of the PFS application (4) fulfill 3,000 hours of personal financial planning business experience and (5) pass a PFP examination.

Certain designations, such as the CPA, CFA and others may satisfy the education component, and allow a candidate to sit for the CFP® Certification Examination. A comprehensive examination tests the candidate's ability to apply financial planning knowledge to client situations. Qualifying work experience is also required for certification. Qualifying experience includes work in the area of the delivery of the personal financial planning process to clients, the direct support or supervision of others in the personal financial planning process, or teaching all, or any portion, of the personal financial planning process.
